Playing Swing & Sweet Music Of the 1930s-1940s

Rhythm playing is the main subject of this essay. Old music bands have trouble finding good rhythm players who know the styles. Old music styles are not taught in school at any level, because the teachers don't know anything about the music or how it is supposed to be played. The following is an introduction to the art.

Your job is Rhythm: to provide a floor for the horn men and the dancers to bounce on. Zap!! You are a floor. Physically and aesthetically rhythm persons sit BEHIND the horns, unlike top-40 and rock. Unlike modern jazz, you are not equal to the horns.

In fact, there is a musical hierarchy: think of it as an upside-down pyramid: drums on bottom providing the basic beat. Bass and guitar augmenting that, plus harmony. Piano supports the rhythm, but also provides musical fills of all types. The horns are on top and are the main purpose of the band.

If you do your job the horns will be so comfortable that they'll be too busy playing the ideas cascading from their muses to even notice you. And dancers will be liberated, inspired to groove the roof. You are not there to "express yourself". Comping is an art; a real artist or just plain old "pro" will be fulfilled by making the band sound and feel better.

KISSS method: Keep it Simple, Solid, and Soft. A good rhythm section is a unit—often one can hardly identify the pieces. Make sure you know and play first and foremost the basic rhythm strokes for the various dances. Busy without basic beat confuses the dancers and distracts everyone else!!

A good bandleader will, within the needs of the gig, try to give each musician, including the drummer, a bit of space to stretch out to relieve the boredom of straight comping.

Drummers: Big Band / swing uses the High-Hat, and moderate, selective rim and other zaps to propel the horns. Pop drummers use all sorts of Hi-Hat technique for rock and disco; use it for swing and even two-beat tunes! Stay off the ride cymbals (except, of course, for change-ups)—many drummers automatically switch to them for swing tunes, and maintain a loud hiss that:

- sounds like hell;
- wastes strokes;
- makes the horn men play louder (and therefore less well);
- keeps the drummer from hearing what's happening in front!!

Most drummers have had some experience playing post-1950 Count Basie or other jazz big band styles that include a lot of various off-beat fills and zaps. That won't work, because 30s-40s swing is hard 4/4 rhythm—the tunes were usually written with that in mind, the big band charts were arranged for it, jitterbug dancing rides on it, and no matter the size of the band, or whether you are using sticks or just brushes, the modern Basie style destroys the feel of the old music. Most drummers can't even play up-tempo tunes with all that clattery non-rhythmic crap without screwing up the almost non-swinging squarish 4/4 rhythm required, so back to simple 4...whack whack whack whack on snare and not-quite-closed hi-hat. You really ought to do 4 on the floor, but most drummers don't have the foot for fast 4/4.

If you just can't change your basic hand positions or basic ride-cymbal habits, at least dampen them to eliminate the hiss. Use a "butterfly" or similar paper clip to attach a piece of bicycle inner tube to the edge of each cymbal. There are plastic clips with soft material that may do the job. Eliminating the hiss enables one to hear the stroke—the ring dies almost instantly.

Combo playing is basically brush work—percussive, not soup-stirring. (Ellington and Basie - type tunes give you more leeway, but check with the band leader.) One of the really neat swing sounds is the combination of 4/4 brush strokes with the "chunk" of the swing guitar. (Listen to Cozy Cole on the earliest Billie Holiday-Teddy Wilson sides.)

Two-beat or "businessman's bounce" tunes should have a nice laid-back, lilting feel. Medium-to up-tempo show tunes often require square boom-chucking on the beat, but slow and moderate ones often want a slightly syncopated snap, from the bass and piano. Control it -- this ain't honky tonk or saloon ragtime -- and keep it solid, and you'll see the older crowd do some pretty wild stuff. Slow tunes can be played with a variety of dynamics and "feels", so that even at the same tempo, dancers can be inspired to move differently: the laid-back lilt, the lightly played but solid four, the bump & grind, the whacking thumping 4/4 (everyone playing 4 on the beat.) The ideal set mixes the feel as well as the tempos and dances, so even if dancer response calls for a series of slow tunes, you pick tunes with different feels -- over the course of a set you are trying to make the dancers use every muscle in their bodies, as well as to set a mood. As soon as you hear the horns syncopating, go into a solid four. It will propel the syncops into the stratisphere.

Guitar: Basically you do 4/4 chunk-chunk, choking it so it doesn't ring -- accoustic, into a microphone, not amplified -- and listen to the piano. Keep the chords simple so the piano has some place left to go. Well selected strokes can have an amazing effect on the overall sound and feel of the band. You can choke your chunks, play on the beat or slightly syncopate it after the top; 2 & 4; or 1 & 3; let the stroke ring for varying lengths of time to lighten the rhythm section's pervasive 4/4; do an occasional fill when there's space (on the 1935 Goodman Orch. records, the guitar is heard clearly, eg. "Goodbye"). But how effective all this is depends on how well you integrate it with the rest of the rhythm section. If you see your-self as a rhythm person, at least in this context, playing with the dynamics can be as much fun as fancy solos and runs.

Bass and Piano: DON'T DOODLE!!! Play basically in rhythm. Bass: 2-beat starts 1 & 3 and STAYS there; don't switch to 4/4 on the second chorus. 4-beat tunes start and stay 4/4 except for change-ups -- remember the dancers, who don't dig sudden rhythm and tempo changes!! Piano: Boom-chuck on non-slow tunes. You can strengthen Horn riffs by playing along with them, add riff patterns in out choruses like a Big Band horn section, zap here and there, add controlled fills. Work with the guitar for studied unity or coordinated contrasts. In a 4-piece section, the DBG playing straight 4, with the piano playing riffs, can very powerfully propel the horns and dancers, and make the band sound larger.

Everyone should be listening closely to what the others are doing. If you hear someone taking a fill, or solo, play straight rhythm. When nothing is happening, watch for your chance to fill or take a break. Learn what kind of rhythm or accompaniment each player likes during his solo.

Resources:

There's plenty of music and loads of CDs to help you learn the songs and style. For learning purposes, the literature may be divided into pop tunes and big band tunes. For the pop tunes, the "Ultimate" series, available at any good music store, are as good a source as any, except that the chords are often somewhat more modern; the "pop" tunes include 1920s-1930s classics such as "I've found a new baby" that were played by small swing and big bands alike; they're just regular tunes with standard structures. However, when it comes to the "big band" tunes, many tunes such as "In the mood" are really known by the Glenn Miller, etc., record, and so you have to learn the salient parts of the record. "In the mood" has a classic introduction which is a set piece and everyone must know it—the melody line and the rhythm zaps; if you screw it up everyone will know it. Other pieces such as "String of pearls" have a melody that audiences know, but if you don't play the arrangement ala the record, improvising on the blues chords of the solo section is basically a bull sandwich. And there are no fake books of these classic charts. More often than not if you see those pieces in music books with titles such as "Songs of the Big Band Era", what you are getting is sheet music editions of the song, which in no way resembles the chart. So you may have to locate "stock" (published dance band arrangements) charts of the and do a lead line from the piano part, taking chords from the guitar part. Bottom line: There's virtually no material that's usable on the bandstand, hence this fake book...

There are hundreds of CD reissues of the classic swing tunes, and an increasing number of CDs with the sweet and 2-beat standard and show tunes. For the small group swing style, the Teddy Wilson Orchestra with Billie Holiday (most often found under Billie Holiday) are splendid examples, as are the Lionel Hampton small group sides from 1937, where the sound of the rhythm section is very clear and the musicians are the greats of the era.

In conclusion, remember: just because you think it sucks, doesn't mean what the other guy's playing is bad. And a request for Nu Yawk Gnu Yawk, doesn't mean the guest hates you. You are there to entertain; inspire guests to hire the band for their affairs; and make the boss hire you again. If you hate 'em, they'll know it. So love 'em and earn your bucks.

30s, 40s Must List

The many slow and 2-beat tunes in the list are standards of either the early 30s—the golden age of American song—or swing era, eg “I can’t get started”; or today—some were revived and immortalized by Frank Sinatra (“Way you look tonight”), so they’re often requested. Many “must” tunes are from the twenties, eg. the Goodman Trio/Quartet play list, so check out the Dixie Must List.

Trumpet solo notation for 'And the Angels Sing (2)'. The solo is written in treble clef, 2/4 time, and is in F major (concert). The notation includes various musical symbols such as eighth notes, quarter notes, and rests, along with dynamic markings like accents and slurs. Chord symbols (C, G7, D7, C7) are placed above the staff to indicate harmonic structure. Rhythmic patterns are indicated by numbers 3, 4, and 8. The solo is divided into two main sections, each starting with a double bar line. The first section ends with a double bar line, and the second section ends with a double bar line.

This solo is included because it is a classic, but you'll have to integrate it into the melody sheet yourself.

The score ends with a double bar line.

('Twas on the) Isle of Capri that I found her, beneath the shade of an old walnut tree/ oh I can still see the flowers blooming 'round her| when we met on the Isle of Ca- pri.// She was as Sweet as a rose at the dawning, but somehow fate hadn't sent her for me./ And tho' I Sailed with the tide in the morning.| still my heart's on the Isle of Ca- pri.//
Summertime was nearly over,/| blue Italian sky a- bove.///
I said "Lady, I'm a rover,/|
can you spare a sweet word of love./She whispered Softly "It's best not to linger, and then as I kissed her hand I could see,/ she wore a Plain golden ring on her finger. 'Twas goodbye on the Isle of Ca- pri.//|

Kiss To Build A Dream OnLouis Armstrong hit;
c. 1935*Lilting 4/4*

♩ = 100

Give me a kiss to build a dream on, and my imagination will thrive upon that kiss.///

Sweetheart, I ask no more than this, a kiss to build a dream on.// ///

Give me a kiss before you leave me, and my imagination will feed my hungry heart.///

Leave me one thing before we part a kiss to build a dream on.// ///

When/ I'm a- lone with// my fancies I'll be with you///

Weaving ro- mances,// makin' believe they're true.///

Give me your lips for just a moment and my imagination will make that moment live.///

Give me what you alone can give/ a kiss to build a dream on.// ///

Got a moon above me, but no one to love me, lover man, oh where can you be.///

I've heard it said that the thrill of romance can be like a heavenly dream.///
I got to bed with a prayer that you'll make love to me,/ strange as it seems///

Someday we'll meet and you'll dry all my tears,/ then whisper sweet little things in my ears/Huggin' and a kissin', oh what we've been missin', lover man of where can you be?///

c. Gordon & Revel, 1934

Chord symbols and musical notation are provided for each staff. The key signature is two sharps (F# and C#), and the time signature is 4/4. The tempo/style is indicated as 'Smooth square 2-beat'.

Stay as sweet as you are,/ don't let a thing/ ever change you.///
 Stay as sweet as you are,/ don't let a soul/ rear- range you.///
 Don't ever lose/ all the charm you possess ////
 Your loveliness, //darling, the way you say "Yes". ///

Stay as sweet as you are, discreet as you are/ you're di- vine, Dear///
 Stay as grand as you are/ and as you are,/ tell me that you're mine, dear.//
 Young and gay or old and gray,/ near to me or a- far;///
 Night and day I pray/ that you'll always stay/ |as sweet as you are.//

♩ = 84

Here we are,/ out of cigarettes,/ holding hands and yawning/see how late it gets./

Two sleepy people, by dawn's early light and
too much in love to say good- night.///

Here we are,/ in the cozy chair,/ picking on a wishbone from the frigidaire,/

Two sleepy people with nothing to say and too much in love to break away.//Do you re-

Member the nights we used to linger in the hall./ Father didn't like you at all.//Do you re-

Member the reason why we married in the fall?/To rent this little nest, and got a bit of rest. Well

Here we are,/ just about the same,/ foggy little fella, drowsy little dame,/
Two sleepy people, by dawn's early light, and
too much in love to say good- night.//

Under A Blanket Of BlueSquare 2-beat*♩ = 96 Gm⁷

1933

The musical score is written for a square 2-beat instrument, likely a piano or organ, in the key of B-flat major (two flats). The tempo is marked as ♩ = 96. The score consists of eight staves of music. The first staff begins with a Gm⁷ chord and a 4/4 time signature. The melody is composed of eighth and quarter notes, often beamed in pairs. Chords are indicated above the staff: C+, F, Am⁷, and D⁷. The second staff continues the melody with Gm⁷, C⁷, F, and D⁷. The third staff repeats the first staff's chord sequence. The fourth staff introduces a new chord sequence: Gm⁷, C⁷, F, and D⁷. The fifth staff features a more complex sequence: F⁷, Cm⁷ (with a triplet), F⁷, B^b, and a triplet. The sixth staff continues with G⁷, Dm⁷ (with a triplet), G⁷, and C+. The seventh staff returns to the first staff's chord sequence. The eighth staff concludes with Gm⁷, C⁷, F, B^bm (with a triplet), and F. The score ends with a double bar line.

Under a blanket of blue,/// just you and I be- neath the stars./
 Wrapped in the arms of sweet re-mance/ the night is ours. ///
 Under a blanket of blue,/// let me be thrilled by all your charms./
 Darling I know, my heart wil dance/ with- in your arms./ ///

|A summer night's magic// |enthraling me so;///
 |The night would be tragic/ of you weren't here to share it my dear./

Covered with heaven a- bove,/// let's dream a dream of love for two.//

(You turned the tables on) Me/// / And now I'm falling for you.// |You turned the tables on Me/// /I can't be- lieve that it's true./ I always Thought when you brought the lovely presents you brought why hadn't you brought me more./// But Now if you'd come I'd welcome anything from the five and ten cent store. You used to call me the Top/// /you put me up on a throne/ you let me fall with a Drop/// /and now I'm out on my own./ //But after Thinking it over and o/ver/ |I got what was coming to me.///

 Just like the sting of a bee, you turned the tables on me.///

(You're gonna lose your) Gal,/// you're gonna lose your gal./// ///

Acting like a two-time lover, keeping kisses under cover

You'll wake up and soon discover, you're gonna lose your gal. You're gonna lose your

Gal, you're gonna fret a-way,/// you're bound to get that way.///

How can you be so conceited, take a heart and then mistreat it.

You can't have your cake and eat it, you're gonna lose your gal. And when she's

Gone,/// /she won't come back,/// /they don't come Back/ won't come back/ once they're gone./// /You're gonna be sur-

Prised,/// /you never real- ized,/// ///

Someone else can treat her nicer, someone else can shoes and rice her

Someone else can paradise her, you're gonna lose your gal.///

2-beat, swing, shuffle, rock'n'roll ballad, twist

♩ = 166

The musical score is written for a single melodic line in 4/4 time, featuring a variety of chords and rhythmic patterns. The key signature has one flat (Bb). The score is divided into two main sections: a first ending and a second ending. The first ending starts with a repeat sign and ends with a double bar line. The second ending also starts with a repeat sign and ends with a double bar line. The chords are indicated above the notes, and the tempo is marked as 166 beats per minute.

Chords and notes in the first ending:

- Measure 1: F (quarter), Dm (quarter), F (quarter), Dm (quarter)
- Measure 2: Gm (quarter), C7 (quarter), Gm (quarter), C7 (quarter)
- Measure 3: Bb (quarter), Bbm (quarter), Bb (quarter), Bbm (quarter)
- Measure 4: F (quarter), G9 (quarter), C7 (quarter), Cdim (quarter)
- Measure 5: C7 (quarter), C7 (quarter), C7 (quarter), C7 (quarter)

Chords and notes in the second ending:

- Measure 1: G9 (quarter), C7 (quarter), C+ (quarter), F (quarter)
- Measure 2: Bbm (quarter), F (quarter), Bbm (quarter), F (quarter)
- Measure 3: Gm7 (quarter), C7 (quarter), F (quarter), Gm7 (quarter)
- Measure 4: C7 (quarter), F (quarter), Gm7 (quarter), C+ (quarter)
